

"Daniel the dummy"

Daniel ~~the~~ Stumpher is not the brightest spark and gets bullied at times for his absent-mindedness. After one particularly rough day at school after ~~her~~ he attempted to make a pencil from earwax, he earned himself the name ~~the~~ Daniel the Dummy.

But Daniel wasn't always this slow, oh no, when he was one, he completed a project for his older brother on the solar-system and was nothing short of a boy genius, but after a very unfortunate accident that involved a coconut falling on poor Daniel's head on one of his exotic holidays to Hawaii when he was four, he began to show signs of... well, stupidity.

His parents didn't help or comfort him when he was bullied, they ~~was~~ were too busy comforting their food addictions. Daniel's parents are extremely obese and eat their way through their own dismay.

One day, when Daniel was home from school he found his mother sprawled out on the ~~couch~~ ~~couch~~ cheese-crisp covered couch with an ~~for~~ empty packet of cheese curls on her head, she had had a heart-attack, Daniel panicked, he didn't have a clue what to do! After about 15 minutes of running around frantically he finally realised that he needed to call an ambulance. He grabbed the phone and quickly dialled 999.

"Hello? Hello? I need an ambulance"; he said while jumping up and down. "Of course, what's the address?" "er.... I don't know."

"Well I need the address or else I can't send out an ambulance." "Oh, just forget it." He smashed the phone back into its socket on the wall.

He ran over to his mum and began to perform C.P.R. Well kind of, he tried to get her breathing by smacking a bowl on her head and then on his own. And suddenly, ideas began flooding into his head and he began to perform ~~proper~~ C.P.R. and her eyes flashed wide open. "Daniel! well done! you did it, I'm alive! Daniel was no longer Daniel the dummy."